SUCCESSFUL CRUISERS.

It is a great comfort to see the navy o this country reinforced by new boats, and a still greater consolation to find that the new craft can skim the waves with business-like swiftness.

The flagship of the North Atlantic more to Key West was made in four days, | contrast. with only sixty tons of coal a day feeding the furnaces. The more cruisers of this kind in our Navy the better, for there is still a numerical weakness in it which should be remedied as soon as possible.

GOOD READING MATTER.

"The Bachelor Girl," by W. H. Ballon, is a lively novel which well sustains the interest throughout and well fulfils the hope aroused by the title. It is not of quite as startling a nature as the "Ride on a Cyclone," Mr. Ballou's first novel, but he is still exploiting the field of the marvel ions in action which suggests the vivid romancing of Jules Verne. A roung woman s whipped up into a balloon as she is taking a horseback ride through Central Park, so there is no tameness of incident in the conduct of the story. .

It is one of those novels built for a Sum mer day's reading in a hammock, or tolling in an easy chair on the shady side of the veranda, with the sea in view. Under these circumstances one wants very little thinking to do, but is wed content with a lively tissue of incidents neatly dovetailed into each other, and if there be a drop, a small drop, of Tobasco sauce it rather helps., Readers will find that "The Bachelor supplies this demand pleasantly enough, and the Summer loiterer may purchase the book with a certainty of having an
